Consent for NanoFractional radio-frequency resurfacing for texture, acne scarring, and overall skin rejuvenation. A series of treatments is commonly recommended.

What to Know

- ☐ Expect redness, warmth, and a sunburn feeling for 1-5 days; fine grid marks and light flaking are normal.
- ☐ Makeup and active skincare are paused briefly during healing, as directed.
- ☐ Infection, blistering, and pigment change are uncommon but possible.
- ☐ This treatment is not performed over metal implants near the area, pacemakers, or during pregnancy.

I Confirm That

- ☐ I do not have a pacemaker or metal implant in or near the treatment area, and I am not pregnant.
- ☐ I have disclosed my health history, medications, and recent procedures.
- ☐ I will follow aftercare exactly, including gentle care and sun protection.

For your safety, tell us about all medications and supplements (including aspirin, ibuprofen, fish oil, antibiotics, and retinoids), skin conditions, allergies, recent or planned sun or tanning-bed exposure, self-tanner use, pregnancy or nursing, and recent cosmetic procedures. Undisclosed conditions and medications are the most common cause of poor outcomes.

Results vary with skin type, age, hormones, health, home care, and consistency with the treatment plan. Honest work is promised; specific outcomes are not guaranteed.

I have read this form, had the chance to ask questions, and I answered the health questions truthfully. I understand the information above and consent to the service described.
